

OSHKOSH MAN SHOT UP IN KANSAS CITY

COUNTY BOARD MAY VOTE ERECTION OF LARGE SANATORIUM

WILL BE LEADING MATTER AT ANNUAL MEET HERE NEXT WEEK.

BOOST SALARIES

Changes Expected To Be Made—Supervisors May Discuss Winter Road Opening.

Several hold-over matters are expected to come up for decision at the annual meeting of the Rock county board of supervisors, which is convened at the court house here at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

More than seven years a matter of argument, discussion and compromise, the battle for the establishment of a county tuberculosis sanatorium is one of the first things that probably will be taken up. The matter now is in a legal position, the board having voted at the special session in July to ask S. G. Dunlap, district attorney, to commence condemnation proceedings against Hugh Hemmings, owner of the land near the town of Janesville, to secure 100 acres of land near this county farm as a site. Hemmings, who is a resident of the land, originally promised to sell the land to the county but backed out upon the contention that his wife refused to agree to the bargain. Mr. Dunlap's report is expected to be one of the high lights of the session.

May Boost Salaries. All salary increases will be taken up at this meeting under a resolution passed by the board in April upon which it was decided to act upon salaries only at the annual session and thus eliminate the very situation which has caused the board to request increases at each session. O. D. Antidote, county superintendent of schools, asked for $500 more a year at this July meeting. His petition was referred to the November gathering.

Now that the Janesville-Beloit concrete road has been completed and is open to traffic, the question of the employment of a traffic and speed policeman is a matter that very likely will be taken up. This was discussed at the July session, but was dropped in the air with the suggestion that the cities of Janesville and Beloit use their own police to look after the road. Several accidents have occurred because of it during the past week.

Keeping Roads Open. In connection with the new highway, is the matter of snow removal and keeping it open all winter. Whether the board will take any action upon the suggestion of State Highway Engineer A. R. Hirst, that the road be kept open by the use of wintering machines, is a matter that will be taken up at the annual session. The board has petitioned the board to look after the roads open, the matter has been passed by the board in a jocular mood, declaring that until man can control the weather the matter is not a matter of time and place of snow.

While the matter of leasing the site of the old county jail on Rock street for the erection of a cattle stock pen by the breeders of the county was laid over until this session, the board has decided to let the matter rest until the next session. Results which have happened since that time elsewhere have caused the breeders to erect the building to support the cattle. It is understood that they have given up the idea of pressing the matter on the board.

COUNTY WIDE MILK PROBE ORDERED BY PRODUCERS' ASS'NS

FARMERS WANT TO KNOW WHERE THEIR MONEY IS GOING. HOLD HOT SESSION. Representatives of Eight Locals Decide on Rigid Investigation of Situation.

Who is getting the farmers' milk money which is not being received by the Chicago Milk Producers' Association? This was the question asked by 25 representatives of eight local Milk Producers' Associations in the county, who met at the West Side Odd Fellows hall here yesterday afternoon and appointed E. L. Downs, their field agent, to make a rigid investigation of the situation.

Charges were made and petty troubles were aired during the course of the meeting, the chairman having to restore order several times, and which culminated in a unanimous decision to have an investigation into the situation. The investigation is being conducted by E. L. Downs, their field agent.

Acting for the Marketing company, members of the producers' association signed a contract with the county to deliver to them their milk to the depots, which act as their agents. With the fixing of the monthly price of milk, a certain spread is fixed, which is a percentage of the amount received by the farmers from their checks. This is deducted from their checks by the agents of the marketing company.

The motion was made by Harold Ward, former secretary of the investigation, that the situation at Avon, where the situation is the most serious, be investigated. The motion was carried and the investigation is being conducted by Harold Ward.

FRENCH WILLING TO JOIN HARDING IN NEW LEAGUE

ARTICLE 10 WAS NEVER PART OF THEIR PROPOSAL FOR PACT. TO MEET BRITISH

Coolness Over Views on German Preparation Dissipated by Note From London. [BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Paris, Nov. 6.—The view was expressed in official circles today that the French government would be ready to cooperate with the authorities at Washington in formulating something different from the covenant of the league of nations as drawn at Versailles, in order to take its place.

This statement was made in official quarters in referring to the declaration of President-elect Harding as embodied from Marion to the French press, to the effect that the Versailles covenant was now "deceased." This is interpreted by officials as applying to the covenant as drawn at Versailles, and as indicating that something different from the Versailles agreement must take its place. The statement was made by officials, the French government would be ready to give its collaboration.

It was pointed out in official circles today that the original French idea of a league of nations did not contain anything like Article X. Coolness between the British and French governments over their divergent views, relative to support of the Versailles covenant, was noted by the British government delivered at the French foreign office personally by the French ambassador, last night. Premier Lloyd George and the ambassador will meet tonight to complete the agreement.

Amazing Revelations By a Spirit Medium

The Woman Who Puzzled the Scientific World Now Confesses That She Was a Fraud.

WRITTEN BY MISS MOLLY WYNTER.
(The World-Famous Medium)
(Copyright 1920, By The International News Bureau, Inc., Boston, Mass.)

"Imagination is a wonderful thing," says Miss Molly Wynter. "Imagination is a wonderful thing," says Miss Molly Wynter, the Medium in the Mask, who succeeded in astounding many well-known men, including Sir A. Conan Doyle, who were present at her amazing seances. The only possible explanation seemed to be supernatural agency and yet the whole process was but remarkably clever acting. Miss Wynter now for the first time makes public the truth of the case, and today she tells you how she performed her marvelous floating tricks, and relates many other amazing experiences.)

CHAPTER III.—THE FLOATING TRICK
Many people say they have seen me float through the air from one side of the room to the other. These same people would not knowingly speak anything but the truth, but I have never caught myself doing any act of aviation, and I doubt if I ever shall.

Skeptics have tried to account for my marvelous "levitation" by claiming that I hypnotize the audience, but here again they are wrong. I have never hypnotized anybody, and I should not know how to begin if I wished to do so.

Those who have attended the seances at which I have floated and my floating trick have related quite honestly what they believe. They saw, and now that I intend to explain the nature of the "phenomenon," I tremble in my shoes at its audacity. I feel really mean sometimes, and now that I realize how ridiculously easy it is to pull quite clever people's strings, I regret that I have not been ashamed of myself for doing these things or of those who believe in me against my will.

When I perform my "levitation" I wear a special pair of shoes. Over the front of each shoe I fit a steel shell which is covered with the same material as the shoe beneath. To casual observers the addition of this shell is quite imperceptible.

Floating in Air
This trick comes late in the program, when I have taken my own hands from the table to lay them lightly upon the shoulders of my adjoining friends.

A feeling of buoyancy is seizing me, I explain. "Please hold me down or I shall float away. No, don't move your hands—place your hands lightly upon mine and hold me lightly. My neighbors grope for my feet and tread gingerly upon them. Press firmly on my feet, and do not leave off pressing." I tell them to hold my steel-shod feet firmly upon the floor and leave the shells behind.

"It's no use, I can't hold them. They're ready to lift my hands from the shoulders upon which they rest. By this time I have slipped my shoes off my feet, and stoop down to thrust my hands into them. "I am rising higher and higher," I exclaim.

In the darkness the expectancy of attention, and the dramatic way in which I impress the minds of the sitters with the fact that I am being lifted against my will, invariably produces the desired effect. Half the audience believe they can see me slowly floating just above the table.

Now I am floating just above the table. I explain, leaning across the table to deliver this sentence as near to the center as I can reach. I extend my arms across the table horizontally, and my sleeves become dimly visible as a shadowy form. The small of my back is now visible, and I am apparently to the ordinary senses of the sitters, because I carefully press my "feet" in close proximity to their faces.

And that people jump quickly to conclusions in spiritualistic matters and argue that where the feet of the medium are her body must also be, namely, floating in the air.

not be satisfactory tonight. It is useless to proceed further, and the seer, glancing in my direction, said: "I understand perfectly," I returned. "Well," asked Lady X, as we rummaged to my hat, "is not this man genuine?"

"No more so than I," was my reply. "If you are to come in, I will show you exactly how I do it." How to Write on a Slate.

The explanation is simple. While the slate is being examined, the medium slips a tumbler with a piece of soft chalk attached to it on to the index finger. In the act of holding the slate under the table, he writes a short message backwards on its left side. It becomes necessary, however, to turn the slate over before exhibiting it to the sitters, so that the writing may appear to have been written on its upper surface—the side that has been pressed to the table.

To accomplish the "turn over," the medium contracts a fit of convulsions, during which the slate is jerked away from the sitters, presumably by spirit power, and is turned over in the required position.

The difficulty of this trick is to write in reverse upon the under surface of the table. If I write from left to right in the ordinary way, the message would be reversed when the slate was examined. This inscribing in reverse, or mirror writing, is one of the cleverest accomplishments of a modern medium.

In the course of my profession I have traveled in many countries and have been classified by the mediums of different lands under three heads. The mediums of America are the best and worst types I have struck. By "best" I mean the cleverest and most ingenious; by "worst" I mean that they, or many of them, are utterly unscrupulous. In the more guarded in their claims and confine their performances to a very few tricks in which they are accomplished and amply justified. The more moderate in their claims and conduct.

"Secrets" and the Police
It has often been suggested that spirit mediums might be of considerable use to the police. In America this fact is recognized and amply justified, but not in the way one would imagine.

I visited a "spirit-parlor" in Denver, Colorado. Two other clients were before me, so I waited my turn for this particular medium specialized in individual seances. Presently I was ushered into the presence of a medium, the crystal seer. She was a fat, greasy woman of unpleasant appearance. "Welcome to our city, stranger," she began. "I am from London, and it would not be difficult for any average American to guess that I was a 'tenderfoot'."

FOOTVILLE
(By Gazette Correspondent.)
Footville—There were 115 at the social service meeting Wednesday evening. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. M. J. Brundage, and was in charge of a committee composed of Mr. M. J. Brundage and the Misses Lulu Rote and Anna Rote. There was no school Thursday at the convention in Milwaukee.

At the election Charles Richards and George Goodrich were ballot clerks. William Connery and H. Harper, inspectors, and Mike Mulachy, referee. Ernest Dundorf, the town clerk, also presided. The women's vote for first time. The referendum was in some cases not understood as it should have been, consequently some voted directly opposite from what they intended and wrote "no" instead of "yes."

"The Whole Story"
The telephone service vendor is subject to the same conditions as the merchants in any other line. It buys certain commodities and turns those commodities into what it sells to the public.

"If it can buy copper and steel and chemicals and property and labor at a certain price it can sell its products in service at a price which is fixed by its expense, plus the profit allowed it by a public body."

"If the cost of the materials used in the production of its service increases a hundred per cent or more, would it not be quite reasonable to expect that it might and should be allowed to increase the cost of the service sold in the same proportion?"

PRINCIPLES OF CHRISTIAN LIVING.
There are words in Jesus' sermon that stick in memory like arrows in a man's heart. One of them is "seek ye first his kingdom." It is not a startling bit of poetry, but it is a truth that has been uttered to gain attention. It is the calm, distinct enunciation of a principle fundamental to the Christian life. It is understood, believed, accepted as a ruling maxim in the conduct of the Christian life. It is the principle of the Christian life. It is the principle of the Christian life. It is the principle of the Christian life.

Final Big Ten Contestants Will Be Determined Today

Badgers Counting On Double Victory Vs. Gophers in Minneapolis, Today

Madison, Nov. 6.—Wisconsin and Minnesota today will engage in a dual athletic battle at Minneapolis, with the Badger fans at home counting on a double victory. The cross-country team left yesterday with the football players and will meet the Gopher runners at 1:15 o'clock today on a five-mile course.

Minnesota is claiming a strong group of distance men this year. Her claims hardly rival those of the local runners, it is claimed, since the defeat of Chicago last Saturday 19 to 36, when only one of the Maroon runners finished before the last of the Badgers. It will be the first race for Minnesota.

Dope Was Upset.

Last Saturday's performance resulted in a few overtures of dope that caused a change in Wisconsin's lineup which will face the starter's gun, according to Coach George T. Bresnahan. Mark H. Wells, of Eau Claire, a new man for distance runs, from the start, the coach expects. Henry C. Daniels, of Oshkosh, is expected to lead the team over the tape for Wisconsin last Saturday. He will be a leader tomorrow followed by Capt. Wellington Brooks, of Wausau, and R. A. Noble of Riceville, Ga. W. L. Dayton of Rhinelander is the dark horse of the squad. He is expected to surprise the Minnesota runners with a performance similar to that of 1917 when he won the Badger-Gopher duel meet. Dayton was Captain-Rick of the 1918 team which entered the service and did not compete.

The Minnesota team has three veterans to count on today. Capt. Kenneth Moon, who well up in Merle Switzer and W. M. Winter are experienced men. Other members of the team will be Andrew Hovstad, Edward Gaumnitz and Joseph Leder.

Wisconsin has been a consistent player in conference cross-country meets. It was the conference title last year, but lost to Ames for the western title. The team this year is in shape to come through for its fourth victory, according to its followers. Purdue, with several veterans, is classed as its strongest rival.

ALL-STARS TO PLAY LOCAL TEAM SUNDAY

Although they have cancelled a game booked with the Beloit A. C. for the fair grounds here Sunday, the All-Stars will take on the local team for the change is because the local boys desire more practice. They have a good aggregation but need more work. It is a possibility that a well-known business will boost the boys to push football here. Sunday's game will be nothing out of the ordinary, but the Stars will have practice and the Stars will line-up Powers half; the support of the people.

The Stars will line-up Powers half; Hall, guard; Inman, full; Sullivan, end; Kaubacher, half; Roy, quarter; Zager, end; Hanson, tackle; Clark, center; Blok, guard; Anderson, tackle.

Davis, Stars-Johnson, Matthews, Arson, Golke, Davis, Dawson, Sheridan, Bonke, Houghton, Arbecker and Luedtke.

MILTON RIFLE CLUB HAS AVERAGE OF 194

Milton, Nov. 6.—The Milton Rifle club met for weekly shoot Wednesday. The match called for 20 shots for each man at 50 feet, with a possible score of 200. The results follow: C. Boss, 194; E. E. Hull, 193; C. Boss, 193; L. Lumm, 192; J. Palmer, 192; T. B. Davis, 189; L. Boss, 187; J. E. Holmes, 186; C. H. Harrison, 184; M. Wendt, 184; W. E. Rodgers, 182; Wm. Dodd, 175. The average score for the five high men was 194.25.

Boxing Notes

Toronto.—Officials of the local boxing commission stopped the contest between Benny Valger of New York, and another boxer claiming to be "Frisco Frankie" Burns, of San Francisco, after Valger was warned for not trying his best.

New York.—The first of four amateur boxing tournaments to decide sectional titleholders will be held in Madison Square Garden on Nov. 29 and 30. According to announcement of the Metropolitan association of the Amateur Athletic union, the other three will be held on Jan. 2 and 4, Feb. 23 and 24, and March 13 and 19, respectively. The latter tournament will decide on the representative of this city in the national championship rounds in Boston.

BADGERS, ILLINOIS AND OHIO PICKED TO WIN BATTLES

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Chicago, Nov. 6.—The western football conference today drew interest toward the outcome of the three games which determine the final contestants for the 1920 championship—the Michigan-Ohio State game at Columbus; the Chicago-Illinois game at Chicago; and the Minnesota-Wisconsin game at Minneapolis.

Illinois' 1919 conference championship, and Ohio State last year's runner-up offered undefeated teams for today's play while Wisconsin, Michigan, and Chicago, each though defeated in one conference game, may go into a tie for first place unless the two unbeaten elevens can keep their slates clean for the rest of the season.

The Wolverines are confident they have an even chance with Ohio State.

Badgers Are Favorites.

Illinois faces an easier prospect in the much crippled Chicago Maroons. Loss of Quarterback Bobby Cole for the rest of the season; and out with Hansch in doubtful condition, leaves Coach Stagg's squad seriously handicapped.

Wisconsin also was a strong favorite over Minnesota in their clash at Minneapolis today, although the Gophers have shown increasing improvement with each game this season and pushed Illinois to the limit last Saturday although Coach Williams had to start the season with almost an entire team with new men. Wisconsin, only one game down, like Michigan and Chicago, is naturally being pointed for the important struggle with Illinois next Saturday in which their chances of a tie for the championship depend.

Purple Meets Iowa.

The game between Northwestern and Iowa presents almost evenly matched teams.

Purdue faces the powerful Notre Dame eleven at Notre Dame, while Indiana, the other western conference team has no game scheduled for today. Centre college crosses the Mason and Dixon line to battle with DePauw at Indianapolis.

HARVARD-PRINCETON FEATURE IN EAST

New York, Nov. 6.—The 1920 football season on eastern college grids entered the last lap today with a number of contests of prime importance.

The Harvard-Princeton clash at Cambridge, the first of the "Big Three" classics, was the headliner. Both teams have been undefeated this season and both have demonstrated high scoring potentialities. The Crimson was favored to stop the speedy Tigers.

Yale had the undefeated Brown eleven as its opponent at New Haven.

Dartmouth was a slight favorite over Cornell at the Polo Grounds in this city.

The Nebraska Plays Penn

The Nebraska's husky eleven, which rolled over Rutgers in impressive style here on election day, faced a real test against the powerful Penn State team.

University of Pittsburgh, which has yet to meet defeat, tackled its ancient rival, University of Pennsylvania.

$300,000 FOR JACK, $200,000 FOR CARP; BIG BOUT CLOSED

New York, Nov. 5.—The Dempsey-Carpenter fight has been clinched at last. The contract papers binding and governing the conditions of the contest were duly signed by all contracting parties amid the booming of cameras in the ballroom of a local hotel this afternoon. The only ancient custom missing in the entire proceedings was the popping of the old wine corks.

Under the contract Dempsey is to receive $300,000, while Carpenter will get $200,000. No date or place has been settled, but the papers provide that Dempsey and Carpenter shall render their services as boxers in behalf of the promoters in a boxing contest at any time either during the month of March, 1921, or between May 29 and July 4.
